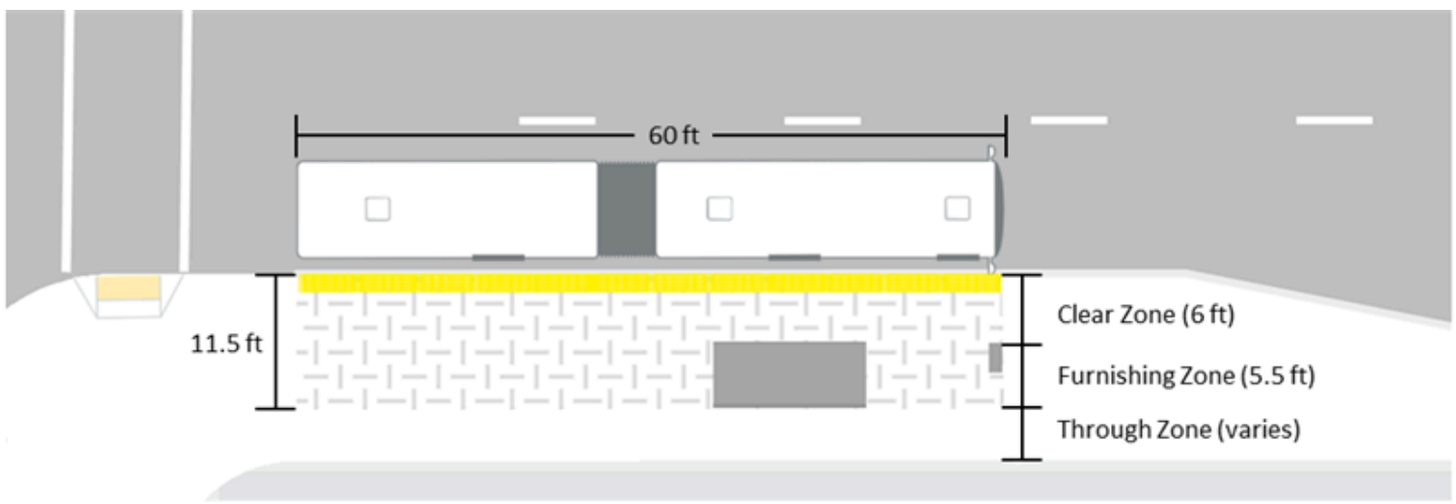
F Line Stations

Individual station pages

The following section contains links to individual station plans for each of the approved F Line station locations identified in the Final Corridor Plan approved by the Metropolitan Council on Aug. 9, 2023. The plans define two core station components: the station intersection and the location of platforms within that intersection. Other preliminary design details are provided for additional context but are conceptual and will be finalized throughout detailed design during the engineering phase of the project. Typical dimensions for an F Line platform are shown below.



The individual station plans are organized north to south beginning in Blaine and continuing to Minneapolis. The plan identifies 32 stations over the 13-mile corridor. The full Corridor Plan includes additional detail, such as considerations for each proposed station and more information about typical bus rapid transit stations and platforms.
